

2015/8/31 Taiwan-Israel Bi-lateral Workshop Agenda

Time	Remarks
1010-1030	Meet with NTOU President Chang, C.-F. and Introduction of NTOU R&D by Vice Dean Chen, I.-S. (佳渝廳)
1045-1145	Visit College of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science, Host by Dir. Huang, P.-H. (黃培華)	Visit College of Ocean Science and Resource, Host by Dean Chen, M.-T. (陳明德)
1145-1300	Lunch
1320-1340	Open remarks (第二演講廳), Speech by Deputy Director General Shieh, S. L. of MOST, Head of Israel Delegation Ms. Ilana and President Chang, C.-F. of NTOU
1340-1350	Group photo
Section	Artificial intelligence and learning algorithms (第一演講廳) Chair by Dir. Lee, M.-S.	Effect of human activities on marine environment (第二演講廳) Chair by Dean Chen, M.-T.
1400-1425	Dershowitz, N.: Large scale clustering methods for historical documents	Ashkenazy, Y. et al.: Current temporal asymmetry and the role of tides: Nan-Wan Bay vs. the Gulf of Elat
1425-1450	Hsiang, J.: Large scale clustering methods for historical documents	Lee, H.-J. et al.: The features of seasonal and non-seasonal water temperature fluctuations: Nan-Wan Bay vs. the Gulf of Elat
1450-1515	Li, C.-T.: Mining and predicting information diffusion in social networks	Cheng, J.-Y.: LumiSense - A portable water pollutant monitoring system
1515-1530	Tea Break
1530-1555	Leshem, G. and D. Esther: Ensemble of anomaly detection algorithms	Chen, C.-S.: The marine symbiotic anemone as the biological sensor for environmental changes
1555-1620	Lee, Y.-J.: Data analytics for IoT applications	Kang, L.-K.: Molecular markers to detect phytoplankton responses to environmental stress in the ocean
1620-1645	Hsieh, J.-W.: AI in life	Shikina, S.: Egg formation of a stony coral, Euphyllia ancora (Cnidaria, Anthozoa): a molecular perspective
1645-1710	Chang, K.-Y.: Prediction and analysis of the critical regions of antimicrobial peptides based on a physicochemical-property-based conditional random field model	Lan, K.-W. and C. I. Zhang: Effects of human activities and climate change on coastal fisheries of Taiwan
1730-1930	Welcome dinner at 基隆水園會館	